

Süleyman Çetinküner, M.D

Title: Associate Professor of General Surgery

Hospital : University of Health Science (Sağlık Bilimleri Üniversitesi) Adana Şehir Training and Research Hospital, Adana - TURKIYE

Department : General Surgery, Liver Transplantation Unit

He was born on March 17th, 1979 in Ankara. After primary school at Hacı Halil Bektas İlkokulu he graduated Denizli Anafartalar High School and then started his medical education at Gazi University, Faculty of Medicine in 1997. In December 2003 he started his general surgery training at Ankara Diskapi Yildirim Beyazit Training and Research Hospital, Department of General Surgery. This training has been completed in December 2008. After the military service he started to work as a general surgeon between 2009 and June 2011 at Mardin State Hospital.

In June 21th, 2011 he started to work at Adana Numune Training and Research Hospital as general surgeon/ Chief Assistant. From this time on he specialized on advanced laparoscopic surgery, gastrointestinal surgery, gastrointestinal endoscopy, Liver transplantation- Hepatobiliary Surgery and Robotic Surgery. He has also been experienced in the field of Bariatric surgery.

In October 2015 he was nominated as Associate Professor of General Surgery. Since September 2018 he was working at Adana City Training and Research Hospital as a liver transplant surgeon.

FIELDS OF INTEREST

Gastrointestinal surgery
Hepatobiliary surgery
Liver transplantation
Laparoscopic surgery
Robotic surgery
Gastrointestinal endoscopy